Matt gets the punchline of the joke he heard earlier.

UNITY

*Despite different backgrounds, interests, and personalities,
we united as
the Class of 1993,
seeking ourselves through each other.*

*"We will walk
on our own feet;
We will work
with our own hands;
We will speak
our own minds."*

-Ralph Waldo Emerson

"Less is more."

-Robert Browning

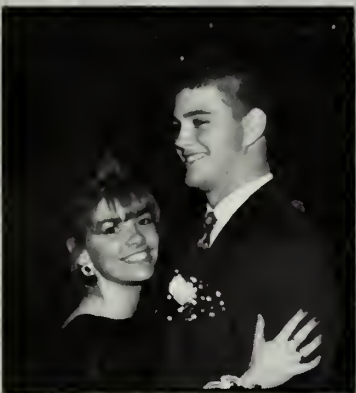

"No, really, it's a good picture of you."

Le drageux et ses femmes

"Get off my back!"

Can you find the missing sneaker?

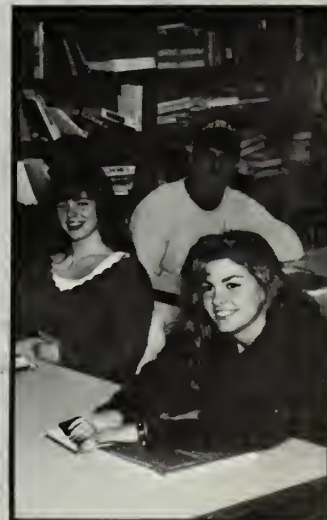

Unity

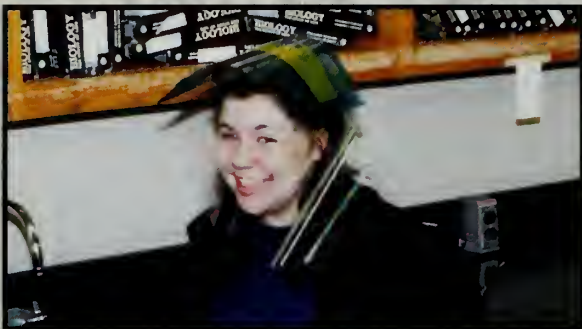

Wow, I'm actually dancing with Santa!

Chris takes his happy Halloween hostages captive

The happy couple bids farewell after just tying the knot

Two's company, three's a crowd!

The girls can beat the boys anyday.

Green spirit pyramid!

Sorry, Eileen, I didn't think I was that bad of an artist.

INVOLVEMENT AND SUPPORT

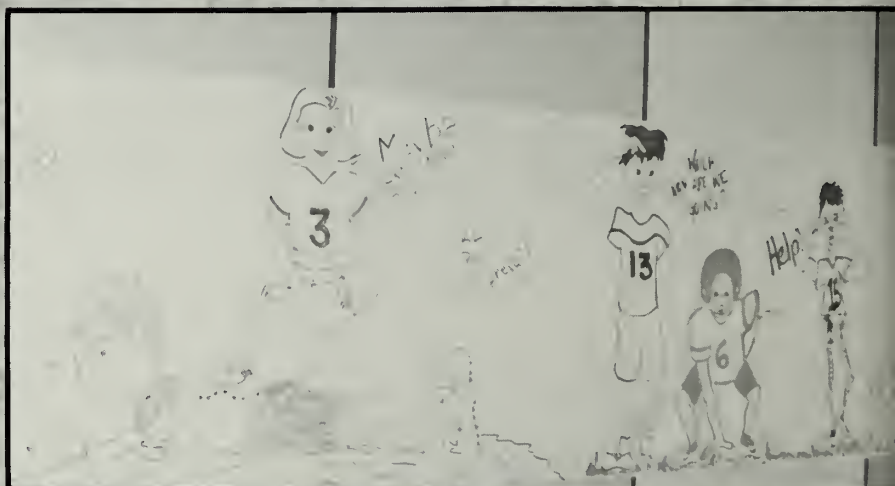

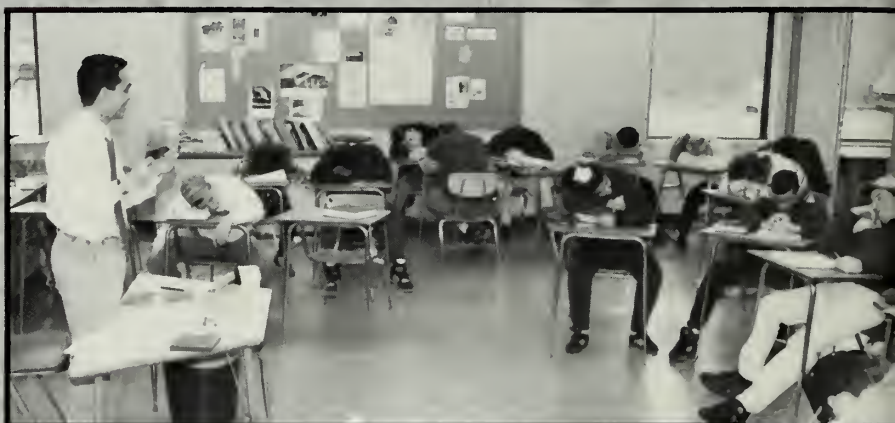

Faculty, coaches, advisors, and friends combined to form an intricate network of involvement and support, which made our senior year memorable.

"Don't walk in front of me, I may not follow. Don't walk behind me, I may not lead."

-Unknown

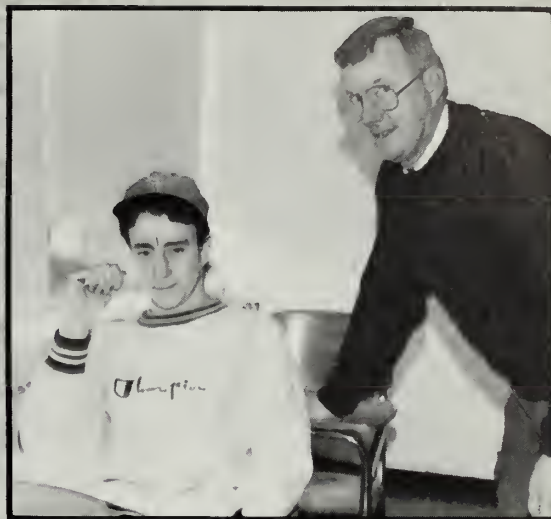

"You cannot be friends on any other terms than upon the terms of equality."

-Woodrow Wilson

The faithful Scep keeping track of the game in the rain.

INVOLVEMENT AND SUPPORT

What do you think? Should I keep them or not?

INDIVIDUALITY

"Every human being is intended to have a character of his own; to be what no others are; and to do what no other can do."

-William Ellery Channing

"What lies beyond us and what lies before us are tiny matters when compared to what lies within us."

-Ralph Waldo Emerson

"If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away."

- Henry David Thoreau

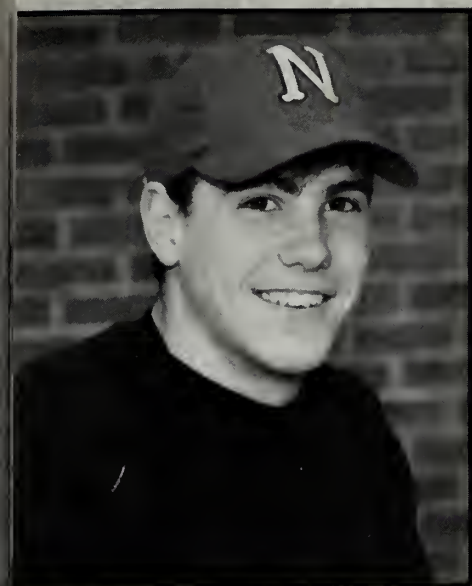

"Wow! What a pep rally!"

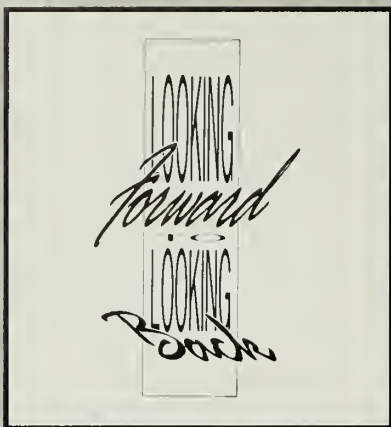

I use Super-Polydant!

I am woman, hear me roar!

Rel says these goggles bring out the color of my eyes.

QUIET ACHIEVEMENT

We set our own personal goals and achieved them. We made our class what We wanted it to be.

"What you do speaks so that I cannot hear what you say."

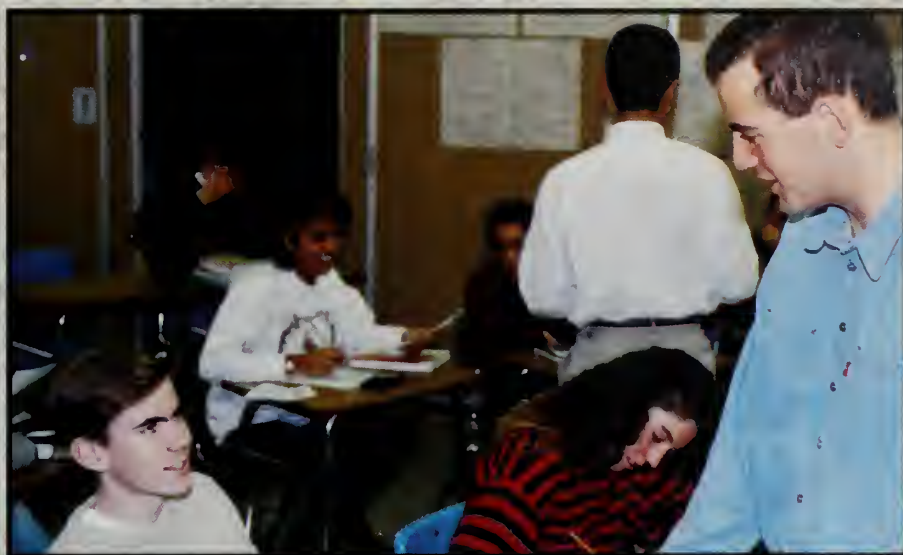

-Ralph Waldo Emerson

"We judge ourselves by what we feel capable of doing, while others judge us by what we have already done."

-Henry W. Longfellow

Senior year is about senioritis.

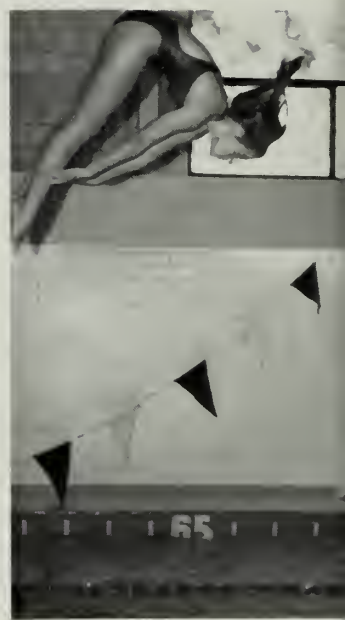

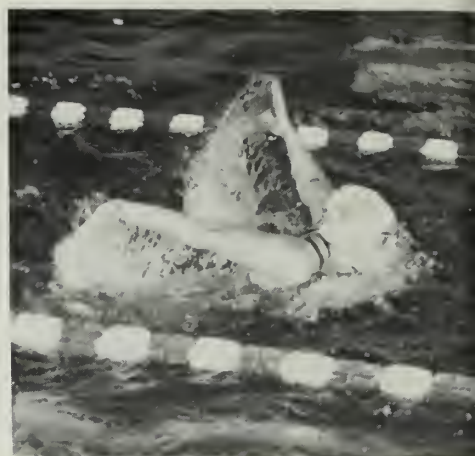

Chris asks, "Is that a football? . . .
Is that what I have to get? . . .
This one right here?"

Well, whadda' ya think?

Girls' Swim Team swims its way to a splashing finale! Football wins Super Bowl against all odds! This is what we call achieving beyond expectations.

GREEN YEARS DEDICATION

Mr. Wayne Chatterton

Mr. Wayne Chatterton honored by Class of 1993

As we graduate from Westwood High School, we represent the culmination of four years of hard work and dedication by the faculty. Everyone of us has been influenced and guided by one teacher in the years of high school. Every year, though, the class as a whole decides to dedicate the yearbook to one member of the faculty who has particularly influenced it.

This year's dedication honors a man who has spent most of the school year teaching seniors and who has guided his students steadfastly through this turbulent year. In his classes, students were introduced to a new atmosphere of learning dominated by group discussions and peer evaluations. Many students have found this year to be the most academically stimulating of all four years, and have expressed the wish that his classes encompass students from all grades. The analytical skills and self confidence taught in these classes have succeeded in many ways in inspiring the members of our class.

This teacher's influence extends beyond his classroom. He has a definite presence in this school- even students who have never taken one of his classes have no qualms in asking for his assistance. He has an open friendly air, and students easily place their trust in him. Most of all, he never places himself as a teacher on a platform "above" students. He never treats a single person with disrespect or distrust. He is a fine example of the new style of teaching: accessible, understanding, making an effort to include all, yet still encouraging ambition and emphasizing hard work.

The Green Years' staff is proud to announce the dedication of the 1993 yearbook to Mr. Wayne Chatterton.

CENTRAL ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Leo Crowe
Assistant Superintendent

Dr. Robert Monson
Superintendent

The School Committee and the Superintendents led the school system throughout the year with commitment and strong leadership. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mary T. Feeley, the School Committee had a very busy year discussing, evaluating, and implementing new educational concepts. Meetings were held every other week at the various schools throughout the system, thus giving parents and interested citizens the opportunity to attend. Lindsay Tisdale, student liaison, and Mr. Donald Beurman, Westwood Teachers Association liaison, attended all meetings and capably represented student and staff.

At the end of the year, Mr. Joseph Quinn retired. Mr. Quinn had served the School Committee for twelve years, three terms of which he was chairman. The schools and community are extremely grateful to Mr. Quinn for his dedication and leadership. His sensitivity to students, teachers, and supporting staff was displayed at all times by his knowledge and understanding of educational issues.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION

CLASS OF 1993

As your high school career draws to a close, it should give you great satisfaction to look back at your record of accomplishments. As was pointed out by several speakers at Class Night and commencement exercises the Class of 1993 has excelled in many areas. Your scholastic achievement far exceeded not only the expectations but the hopes of your teachers; as athletes you have led the school to an enviable year which included several tournament appearances and a state championship. Finally, as people and citizens of the school community, you have gained the respect and admiration of the school staff and administration. Although it is true that you are the smallest class numerically to ever graduate from Westwood High School, the list of your achievements is a large one.

As you move on now to further education, careers and personal lives as adults, you take with you our very best wishes for success in your chosen field and happiness in your lives. We are sure when your twentieth anniversary is celebrated, you will have established an outstanding record in life as you did here in school.

Our very best wishes to all of you.

Phillip F. Flaherty
Principal

Phillip F. Flaherty
Principal

My congratulations to the Class of 1993! You have displayed a great deal of academic vitality and creativity since arriving at Westwood High School four short years ago. Your energies and pursuits led to outstanding achievements not only in the classroom, but on the athletic fields as well. You were also a strong force leading to the many successes within our new Performing Arts program and governance initiative. You have truly reaped the rewards of a strong and dedicated faculty which along with the support of family and community has prepared you for a bright, challenging and rewarding future.

I urge you to preserve your memories and friendships by becoming active members of our alumni. Keep in touch - - - Agi Quod Agis

Mrs. Leigh Spencer

The ladies of the Front Office have taken care of the day-to-day needs of students from the beginning of freshman year to the end of senior year. They take care of tardies and absences; they take messages, and hold on to student belongings until the owners claim them; and they answer student and visitor questions. Acting as the information network of the school, they make sure "communication lines" remain in place. The Class of 1993 would like to thank the Front Office for its dedication and help over our four years of high school.

BUSINESS

Mr. Laurence Rettman
Business Coordinator

The Westwood High School Business and Industrial Technology Department prepares students for college as well as for the real world. This department helps students strive to reach their goals and opens up for them many career opportunities. Headed by Mr. Laurence Rettman, the department offers courses in business law, word processing, accounting, and industrial arts. These courses have proven not only helpful in fulfilling career goals, but also have been enjoyed as learning fun by many students.

GUIDANCE

Guidance - n. something that leads or directs, as to a destination - this is the main purpose of the Guidance office. The Guidance Department, operated by the capable hands of Dr. Kerrissey, Ms. Armstrong, Mr. Hughes, Mrs. Levangie and Mr. Bowman, solves problems with schedules, grades, and by popular demand, college applications. Without its help and assistance, students, especially seniors, would be lost, wandering in a mass of confusion and hysteria. But thanks to the faculty working in the Guidance office, no matter where a student's destination may be, they will do their best to lead him or her to it.

MEDIA CENTER

Just about every senior has had a close relationship with the Media Center and the faculty that head it. By just leisurely passing through or trying to disguise tripping down the stairs of the Media Center, one soon realizes that it serves as the hub of the school. Whether one is there during a free block, after lunch, or busily working at the Info-trac, Mr. Swezey and Mrs. McCoubrey are always there to maintain order and assist any confused students with the library's abundant resources. However, the Media Center not only fosters the growth of individual students, but also has rooms for classes with audio and visual needs, such as Music Listening. So if one wants to go where everybody knows his name, the Media Center is the place to go.

Good writing skills are important in college and in the working world, and the four years of English that Westwood students have to take are designed to develop these skills. The English Department instructs students on the use of correct grammar and language while supervising the development of each individual's writing ability. The English Department also fosters the development of insight and understanding in students through the many great works of literature studied over the four years.

The English Department holds many memories for students graduating. Who can forget dictation tests or the five-paragraph essay? Who can forget such wonderful lines of literature such as "My mother is a fish" from Faulkner's As I Lay Dying? Who can forget the amount of time and effort the English Department dedicates to the student body - in class and other activities?

The Class of 1993 would like to thank the English Department for four years of hard work on our behalf.

MATH

Mathematics at Westwood High means lots of formulas and rules, hard work, and the wonderful personalities and teaching styles of the faculty. The Math Department develops our skills of problem solving, logic, and reasoning, enabling us to brave later on in life everything from household accounts to nuclear physics. New initiatives in the Department intend to emphasize the universalism of the language of mathematics, as well as to improve classroom learning by encouraging cooperative learning styles.

Most of all, each math teacher has his or her own own vibrant personality and brings to each class a different outlook. The amiability of the math teachers is renowned, and many students will stick their heads into Math Seminar merely to say hello, as well as to seek help. In sports and extracurricular activities as well, the support of the Math Department is noticeable. A thank you to all math teachers for their instruction and concern for the well-being of the student body.

Once again, Dr. Griffin led the Science Department of Westwood High School to another wonderful year of scientific studies. Through the use of accelerated labs and lectures, the science teachers have broadened the minds of Westwood’s students, who some day may be the leaders of technological fields. We have many fond memories of the Science Department which will stay with us for the rest of our lives.

Who can forget the frog dissections in biology class, or the air hockey tournament in physics, even if it wasn’t a demonstration of frictionless surfaces? The experienced staff of the Science Department has combined fun and learning into its classes. We, the Class of 1993, would like to thank you for all your efforts and for the guidance you have given us.

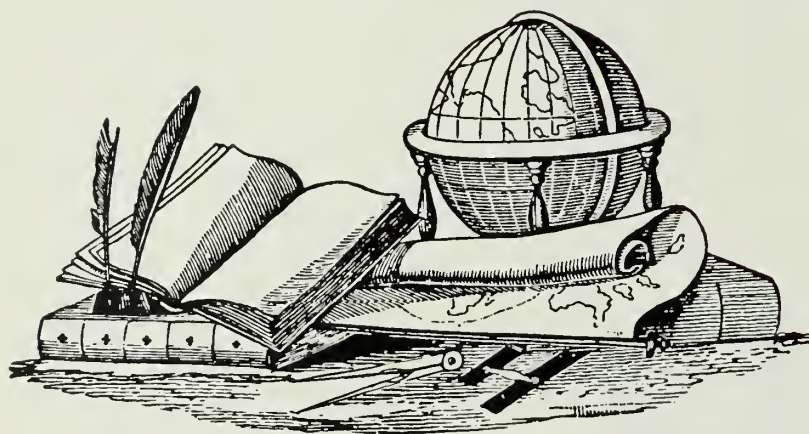

SOCIAL STUDIES

LOOKING FORWARD

Looking back into the past is just one element of the education that the Social Studies Department provides for the students under the direction of chairman Mr. Brown. A whole new world is opened to us through the many courses we can take. A student can learn about global issues from Mr. Beurman, government from Ms. Walsh-Saumsiegle; or take a look across the ocean in European history with Mr. Dore, or experience Mr. Brown's after-school sessions and lectures in AP U.S. history. While offering many other exciting and challenging courses, the faculty of the Social Studies Department has gone beyond the classroom in offering guidance and a helping hand to the students they teach.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

*Looking

No one can deny the crucial need for knowledge of a foreign language, such as the French, Latin, and Spanish taught in Westwood High, in an increasingly diverse society. And no one can deny the teaching expertise of the Westwood High Foreign Language Department, headed by Mrs. Hollis Perry. Whether it's an occasional "Hola," "Bonjour," or "Salve" in the hallway, one feels a unique cultural spirit when in the domain of this department. The involvement and dedication of the Foreign Language faculty has led to events such as field trips and international food days. We, the Class of 1993, would like to express our appreciation to all the teachers in the Foreign Language Department and for all the help they've given us over the years.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Getting to know one's own learning style and the best way to study are some of the important things that students with special needs learn at Westwood High School, especially with the help of the Special Services Department. WHS prides itself on an innovative and almost fully integrated program in which students with special needs are placed in courses of all levels. Regular and Special Education teachers team up in many classes to address the needs of students. The Special Services Department also addresses the psychological and physical needs of students, completing the care of the student as a whole.

ART MUSIC

LOOKING Forward
LOOKING

The Fine Arts Departments have provided Westwood High students with exposure to a different area of academics - the visual and performing arts. The Art Department, under Mr. Delsignore, teaches art and ceramics to students, providing a material outlet for those creative juices. The Music Department led by Mr. Giurleo spends much time improving the musical understanding and skill of instrumental players and singers. And the PACE program directed by Ms. Hall provided students with the opportunity to learn about and perform various aspects of the dramatic arts.

The attire: sneakers, shorts, and a T-shirt - preferably one stating a clever quote or advertising some group. The mission: to strive to develop our minds and our bodies to their fullest potential. With the guidance of Mr. Tuccelli and Ms. Peters, students participated in such invigorating activities as pickleball, weightlifting, volleyball, and everybody's favorite - the twelve minute run. Nostalgic seniors and juniors will always look back on their years of "gym" with the fondest of memories, as it was not a required course this year for upperclassmen, unfortunately. A special thanks goes to Dr. Gearon for his overall support and to Mrs. Clement and Trainer Jeff for patching us up when we pushed ourselves just a little too far.

There Is No Death

In one sense there is no death. The life of a soul on Earth lasts beyond his departure. You will always feel that life touches yours, that voice speaking to you, that spirit looking out of other eyes, talking to you in the familiar things he touched, worked with, loved as familiar friends. He lives on in your life and in the lives of all other that knew him.

-Angelo Patri

Jason Aylward, a member of the class of 1993, would have graduated with the rest of his class in June of '93. Since he left us before our big move to the Thurston Junior High, only about half of the class knew him. And the ones who knew him well were very fortunate. I was one of them. Jason was one of my good friends, if not the best; and for a fifth-grader, the loss of a companion of this sort is not easy to swallow. He was an extremely energetic, athletic, and friendly kid. I always envied him for he just wasn't afraid. He didn't have many fears and wasn't afraid to take risks. I always considered Jason a wild friend! He was truly unique, and his death came as a tremendous shock and terrible loss. We'll never forget him, and we'll forever miss him. For others in the class who knew him, please keep his spirit alive inside.

-Dan Hannon

True

Love For A Friend
Cannot Be Expressed
In Size Or In Weight,
And Cannot Be Guessed.
You Know When It's There
And Know When It's Strong.
And Love For True Friends
Can Never Go Wrong.
Smiling And Laughing
When Spirits Are High.
But When Things Go Bad,
Unafraid To Cry.
For You'll Understand
And She'll Understand.
When You're In Need,
Just Reach For Her Hand.
But When She's Not There
And Cannot Come Back
And Your World Seems Empty
And Painted All Black,
Just Think Of Your Love,
And She'll Think Of You.
Loving And Caring
Is What True Friends Do.

Christina M. Grueter

A Personal Comment to the Class of 1993

Most mornings, before heading off to work, I look at a sketch that was drawn by Veronica Gozzo. The sketch is of the dogwood tree that you planted in Christina's memory.

Veronica's sketch captured the youthful spirit of the tree. Its young limbs growing in every direction. It isn't majestic, it isn't well rounded, and it isn't fully mature. Not only did Veronica capture the spirit of Christina - a picture of her youthfulness that is frozen in time, but she also captured the spirit of each and every one of you. Today you are not majestic, you are not well rounded, and you are not fully mature - but some day you will be. As you go through life, remember that tree - reach for all the nourishment that is out there, and grow to your full potential.

For our family, the Class of 1993 will always be close to our hearts. Your support of Christina through her illness, and the sympathy at her death gave us great comfort during a very difficult time. She could not have asked for better classmates and friends. You truly are the Class of Champions.

Frank, Michelle, Chip & Tim Grueter

We'll Remember . . .

Richard J. Stack

Mr. Stack taught at Westwood High School for thirty-three years. In those years he touched in some way the life of each and every student who walked into Room 110. Many of us had Mr. Stack as a history teacher freshman year. As I think back I remember a man on the first day of classes who gave each of us specific detailed directions to our next class. He certainly loved history and his boundless enthusiasm gave him the power to reach all of his students. After we had talked for hours about historical significance, the fall of Troy or the cities of Greece, Mr. Stack would always have some story about his brothers. They were his family but so was one special lady, Miss Bolles. After her death, he continued on and was an example of strength and comfort to both his students and colleagues. During his two-year battle with lung cancer he enjoyed the many letters from important members of his family - his students. As we leave WHS and move on in our lives, Mr. Stack's influence and memory will long endure through his students.

- Nancy Santoro

Physics is Phun! Mr. Topalian was a teacher who took difficult material and made it simple by the use of one of his three million gadgets. He was truly a different kind of teacher, but a great one, as he was able to create a classroom where a student felt comfortable and able to tackle the next problem (which would probably take the next three hours). Mr. Topalian showed his students many new laws and theories. But once in the middle of one of his demonstrations, we introduced him to something new. While we were creating a laser show on the wall, the song "Bohemian Rhapsody" came on and he loved it, especially the part with "Galileo, Galileo." Mr. Topalian's love for physics and for his students made him a teacher who could reassure us in our studies and be a friend who was there if needed. He may not have believed all of our excuses for being late but his love for his students will last forever.

Sonnet For The Class Of 1993 School Spirits

One day I walked in footsteps of the past
And felt the touch of spirits I once knew
They came to play again; my wish come true
They softly came to me, but left too fast
The spirits took me back from first to last
To show me hallways, classrooms, hours that flew
The pain, the fears, the loss, from these we grew
The sacred friendships, ties unbroken, vast.
The spirits told me I had inner strengths
They gave me help to see a world of peace
They showed me bonds made firm of endless lengths
They said the gift of knowledge would not cease
And now I walk in footsteps quite unknown.
I struggle forth, but I am not alone.

LOOK WHO'S TALKING

Class of ... 96

What song title best describes your freshman year?

"Why?" Annie Lennox
 "Helter Skelter" Beatles
 "If Only" Anthrax
 "Standing in the Hallway" Bangles
 "Emotional Thing" Shakespeare's Sister
 "Work to Do" Vanessa Williams
 "Goodbye Yellow Brick Road" Elton John
 "Tradition" Fiddler on the Roof
 "Wasted Time"
 "End of the Innocence" Bruce Hornsby
 "It's So Hard to Say Goodbye" Boyz II Men

What is the weirdest thing

you have ever done in the Media Center?

Victorian tea party - great!
 Fell asleep on table
 Hung upside down from banisters
 Broke the Xerox
 Shut down computers
 Stole a book
 Got beating from librarian for eating cookie
 I studied

What is the strangest thing you've ever done to get out of class or a study hall?

I faked a contact lens problem (I don't wear lenses).
 I used an 18 by 21 inch recycled pass.

I went on a futile hunt for a pencil sharpener and went to the courtyard.

I feigned an asthma attack.

I repeated a math problem over and over so I'd be late.

I told a sub I was off to take a test- and took a side-trip to lunch.

What animal best reflects our class and why?

Kangaroo- bounces up and down

Cheetah- unpredictable, nasty at times, docile at others

Peacock- all different colors

Monkey- kind of off the wall

Hyenna- constantly laughing
 Dalmation- spotted with different types of people
 Anteater- goes about its own business, and when it wants to eat, it eats
 Fetal pig- Vulnerable to world
 Lion- proud and strong

If you could hold the Senior Class in your hand, what would you do with it?

Ask them how they got so small

Save it for later.

Blow it up.

Put it in my pocket.

Bounce it.

Eat it.

I'd wash my hands.

Homecoming Court And Pep Rally

As the Homecoming football game drew ever nearer, Westwood High students attended the Homecoming Pep Rally for fall sports. MC Theresa Conley and the Westwood Wolverine kept everyone in the spirit of things as the captains of each sport spoke a bit about their ongoing season. And the Homecoming Court promenaded around the gym, on the arms of their respective 'Kings' and some football players, in rehearsal for their appearance on Homecoming Day.

Halloween

Halloween

Trick or treat! One way students and faculty expressed school spirit during the festive month of October was by arriving to school all decked out in Halloween attire. Costumes ranged from dragons and clowns to monsters and ballerinas. And to top things off, individual prizes were awarded to those in each grade who best knew how to dress for the occasion. People proved that no one is ever too old to partake in the wacky, weird Halloween tradition.

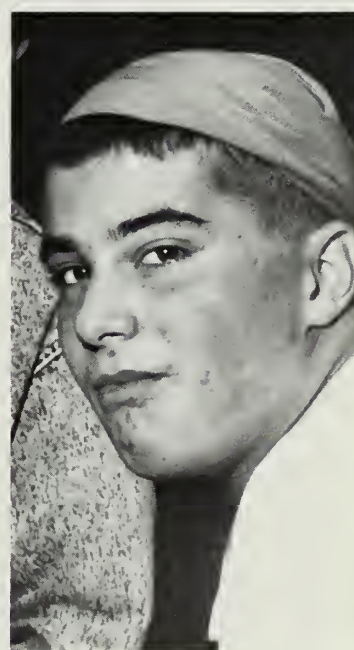

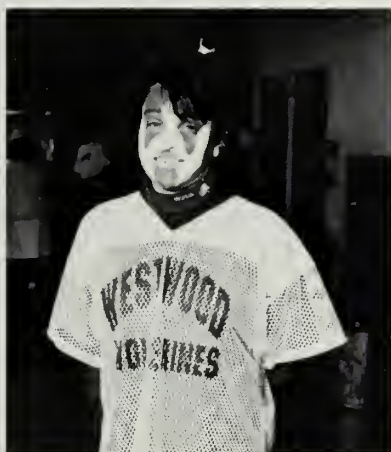

Kenny struts his stuff in the cafeteria.

Green Pride

As part of Homecoming activities, on Green Pride Day Westwood High students decked themselves out with every piece of green clothing they could find, even painting their faces, and eating green food. Seniors took the honors as usual in their display of school spirit, though underclassmen were also impressive in their enthusiasm. Green and white shall live forever!

Winter Semi- Formal

LAUREN
JANUARY
1988

Once again, the senior class threw a spectacular Winter Semi-Formal for all grades to enjoy. Dr. Gearon-cum-Santa Claus made his appearance in his jolly red outfit, and posed by the fireside with students for photos taken by NHS. The DJ created a sizzling atmosphere with popular dance music, and frequently slowed things down with romantic melodies for the lovebirds among the students attending. All attending looked magnificent in formal finery, up until the last slow song was played to end the evening.

Winter Music Concert

The Music Department provided Westwood High with an evening of wonderful musical performance this year in the Winter Concert. The concert band and jazz band were directed once again by Mr. James Giurleo, while the chorale had a new instructor. Ms. Karen Hall, as did the orchestra, led by Ms. Laura Chadwick. In addition, the new physics teacher extraordinaire Mr. Rex Babiera revealed a musical side to his talents, playing the piano for the chorale.

Mr. WHS

The Mr. WHS contest was a great success again this year, with eight contestants: Matt Fink, Matt Keller, Kevin Kelly, George Koukos, Jim Marsh, Jay Resha, Rich Siggins, and Steve Tibbets. The gentlemen made their runs attired in various stunning outfits, performed various dares as directed by announcer Ken Carter, and demonstrated their talents. Nominated by the panel of judges, then chosen by the audience's cheers, Matt Keller won the day as Mr. WHS.

Spring Fling Week 1993 drew to a spectacular close with the dance and Mr. WHS contest. New colors made their debut this year: Jade, Fuchsia, and Sunshine. After racking up the points throughout the week with great team spirit, the Sunshine Team walked away as champions of the week.

THE DINING ROOM

The Dining Room consisted of 23 actors playing 51 different roles, all occurring in one of the most sacred rooms in a home. Stories ranged from a child's party to caring for an aging parent, which allowed the ensemble to prove their ability of comedy through drama. Thanks to director Ms. Karen Hall and all of the production staff. The Dining Room was a great success. Congratulations to both cast and crew.

Was that a crack??

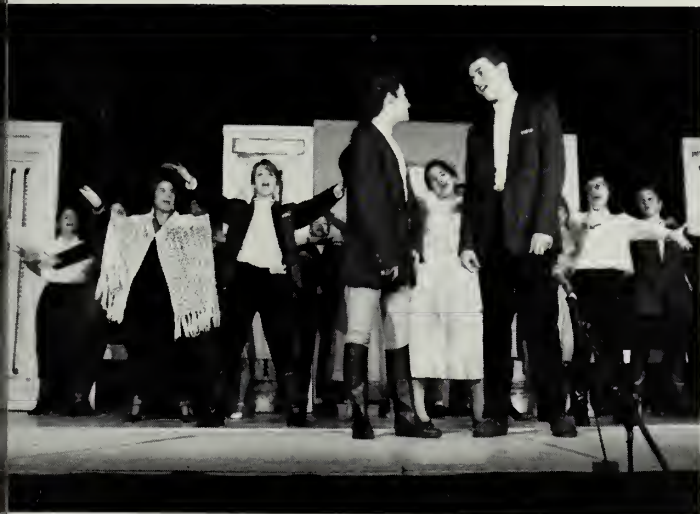

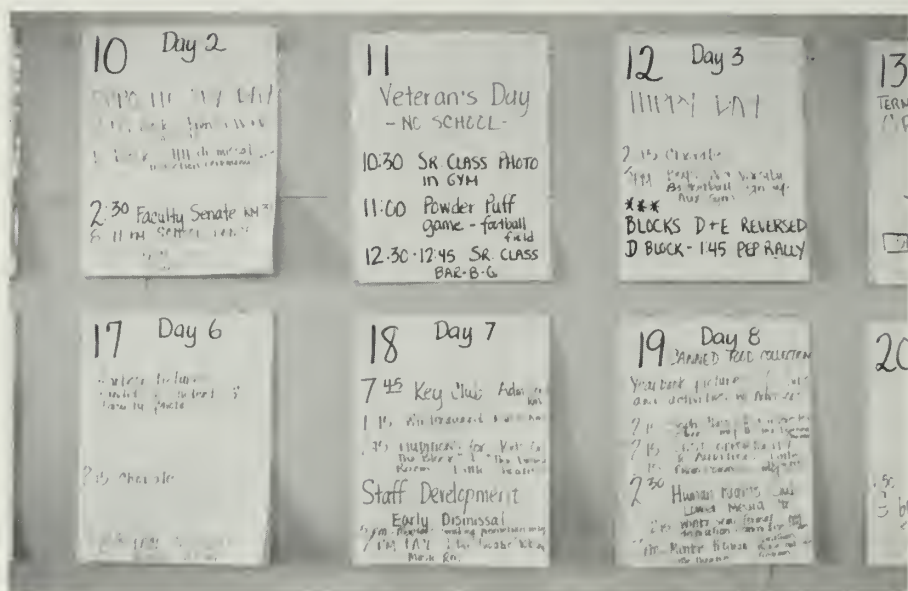

MAME

"We think you're just sensational, Mame!" The revival of the spring musical brought Mame to Westwood High in early April. The three performances brought rave reviews, packed auditoriums and standing ovations. The musical starts off in New York in 1928. After the death of both parents, little Patrick Dennis and his nanny, Agnes Gooch, head to the big city to find Patrick's Auntie Mame. Patrick's father's conservative lifestyle is drastically different from that of his flamboyant sister and the two arrive in the middle of a bang-up party. The many guests include the bootlegger, dancers, a bishop, and the famous movie actress, Vera Charles. Patrick grows up at Beckman Place with his family of Auntie Mame, Vera and Gooch and the antics continue. The musical was a great success and a solid foundation for future musicals to build on. Special thanks goes to Director Karen Hall, who made what people called "impossible," spectacular. Thanks also to the production staff, Mr. Babiera, the parents, Beaver Country Day School and the WHS Performing Arts Department.

Student Advisory Board

The Student Advisory Board is an organization which is required by state law. The purpose of the group is to listen to the ideas and concerns of the student body. This year, with the new governance bodies in place, the Student Advisory Board assumed new responsibilities.

We did our best to support the Legislative Council. We were also responsible for bringing in speakers on issues such as AIDS and date rape. We sponsored our annual Daffodil Day to benefit the American Cancer Society and distributed the daffodils to thank all the faculty and staff for all the time and effort they put in to make this school an excellent place to be. However, our most important job was to create an environment in the school where the faculty and the students would be able to voice their concerns. We would like to thank everyone who participated in this process, and especially thank Mrs. Petrakos and Mr. Flahive for sponsoring the group. Good luck to next year's Student Advisory Board!

Student Council

This year's Student Council was led by officers: Ken Carter (Pres.), Meghan Gadd (V-P), Hyun Chung (Sec.), and Theresa Conley (Treas.) We met every Tuesday morning at 7:40 in the conference room. We started the year off by decorating the halls and selling candy apples for Halloween. We held dances periodically throughout the year. Our highlights were during Homecoming Week with Clash Day, Hippie Day, Dress as the Opposite Sex Day, and Green Pride Day. Christmas-time we were again in the caf selling candy canes and tickets to the Winter Semi-Formal, both of which were a great success. During the next event, Spring Fling, we had three new colors: Sunshine, with captain Veronica Gozzo; Fuchsia, with captains Whitney Ilg and Rich Siggins; and Jade, led by Nancy Radden and Dave Abdou. The Sunshine Team had a crowning victory after a week of volleyball, a Mr. WHS dance, with winner Matt Keller and a floor hockey game. We had a great year. Special thanks to our advisor, Mrs. Furber, and good luck to Student Council next year!

GOVERNANCE

Legislative Council

Like the federal government, Westwood High School has its own Legislative Branch known as the Legislative Council. The Legislative Council creates recommendations and legislation involving the activities, policies, procedures, programs, and rules of the Westwood High School Community consistent with the principles enumerated in the Constitution, and the laws governing the town, state and country.

Judicial Council

This year, the Judicial Council was a vital part of the school's newly implemented government. The Judicial Council's primary function was to interpret the Westwood High School Constitution and its legislation. The Judicial Council was also called upon to adjudicate and resolve those cases involving disputes, complaints and grievances that arose among the citizens of Westwood High School concerning the activities, programs, and the application of the rules and procedures found in the Constitution.

Executive Branch

The Executive Branch of Westwood High School consists of the Principal and the Assistant Principal who exercise the powers to assume the responsibilities, including disciplinary actions, normally associated with their respective positions and outlined in their respective job descriptions. The Principal is considered to be the Chief Executive, and implements the policies and rules of the School Committee, the Central Administration, the Legislative Council, and the decisions of the Judicial Council. The Chief Executive also has the power to amend any decision or policy that he deems to be unreasonable or inconsistent with the Constitution's policies.

Mr. Phillip Flaherty, Chief Executive

Elections & Nominations Committee

The Election and Nominations Committee's purpose is to run all the school elections and to fill vacancies that occur. The Committee consists of three faculty members and four students who are drawn from each incoming class. Its members are appointed in March by a simple majority vote of the Legislative Council to serve a one year term, and may be reappointed for further terms. Members of the Election and Nominations Committee are forbidden from serving on any other council or committee during their time in office.

Co-Moderator Jennifer VanGelder

Co-Moderator Mr. Wayne Chatterton

Arbitration Council

Enumerated under the Judicial Branch of the Constitution, the Arbitration Council is called upon to settle disputes. The members of this committee also serve as members of the Harvard Negotiations Committee. The members of these joint committees ran seminars instructing first year students, as well as students from surrounding towns, to find creative resolutions to their conflicts that satisfied all parties involved.

Members of the School Climate Committee included Ms. Susan Peters, Jaime Griffin, Ryun Hee Hong, Aileecia Lewis, Jeslyn MacClary, Julie MacQueen, Shakira Soberanis, & Carol Wan.

Climate Committee

The School Climate Committee's mission is to address issues which concern the school community. Under the direction of Ms. Susan Peters, this committee met weekly. A survey was administered in order to identify the issues that were of the greatest concern. The committee chose to focus on the issue of RESPECT, and sponsored a successful poster contest.

Ecolibrium

Ecolibrium, in only its second year of existence, once again harassed Westwood kids in attempts to inspire them to care more and pollute less. With our school clean up in the fall, hike in the spring, production of a newsletter, participation in the ELNA project and the Mass Hope Conferences, and recycling efforts throughout the year, Ecolibrium has once again made it through another year with a great deal of finesse. Thank you, Mrs. Staiti and members, for all your support and enthusiasm!

Mentors

The Westwood Mentors is a group of students who both run and participate in many community activities. Through programs such as Teen Centers, the Smoking Prevention Program, and various activities concerning the homeless, Mentors go out into the community to provide awareness and safe entertainment to people of all ages on a variety of subjects. Many thanks to Rob Stadolnik and Grace Mignosa for all their time and hard work.

National Honor Society

National Honor Society once again took the school by storm with its upbeat ideas and 'good will towards all' attitude. Each member completed thirty hours of community service work during the year, with most of us volunteering our time to help out at the Mass. Hospital School. We also accomplished a lot as far as fund raising goes: 'Pictures with Santa' (thanks to Dr. Gearon) and 'Win an NHS Member to Do With As You Please' (which the school store staff was ecstatic about). The money raised supported the Christina Grueter Scholarship Fund. NHS also made a few trips to the local bowling alley for some group bonding, but somehow the idea of a WHS bowling league did not catch on. Good luck to next year's members and, of course, many, many thanks to Miss Dillon, our dedicated advisor and supportive mentor.

Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica

Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica (SHH) had another successful year. We continued our tradition and sold ice cream in the cafeteria during lunch block on the first Friday of every month. Instead of the usual "Chispas de Chocolate" and "Bizcochitas de Crema," we broke tradition by selling exciting flavors like "Tortuga," "Chispas de Menta," "Frambuesas Negras" and "Cafe." For the third consecutive year, we visited Mrs. Fitzpatrick's kindergarten class at the Hanlon School so that we could teach the children Spanish. This activity was capped off by the party in December where all SHH members went to the Hanlon School to play games in Spanish like "Pin the Tail on the Snowman." The foreign language seminar also opened this year, and SHH members were instrumental in staffing it and providing assistance to those students who needed help. We also started a program known as "La Sombra," which paired an SHH member with another student who needed assistance in Spanish. Although this program had its flaws, we still helped a considerable number of students to better their knowledge of Spanish. Muchísimas gracias to our dedicated and loyal advisor Señora Perry for all her hard work as she contributed greatly to the success of SHH.

Société Honoraire De Français

The French National Honor Society serves as a means of utilizing the French language and culture outside of the classroom for increased enjoyment and learning. This year the society had a potluck winter dinner and gift exchange with the Spanish Honor Society. Many members brought home such gifts as candy and cassette tapes, all typical of the winter holidays. The society also offered tutoring throughout the year in the foreign language seminar room. In the spring, the Food Festival took place. Not only was the food delicious, but it gave members several new recipes to add to the bilingual cookbook. An induction ceremony did not take place this spring; it will now take place every fall. Thank you, Mrs. Rice, for all of your efforts.

National Merit Scholars

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation announced in September, 1992, that five students from Westwood High School earned honors for their performance on the October, 1991 National Merit Qualifying Exam. To earn the status of National Merit Semi-Finalist, a student must earn a qualifying score that places him/her in the top 1/2 percent of the over one million students in the 19,000 secondary schools that participated in this program. In all, 15,000 students nationwide earned this status. At Westwood High School, we are proud that one student was among this select group: Kerry Larkin. Kerry also qualified as a Finalist.

To earn status of National Merit Commended Student, a student must earn a qualifying score that places him/her in the top 5% of all student participants across the country. In all 35,000 students earned this status. Westwood High School is proud that four students are among this group: Kevin Foster, Kate Mason, Brian Lawton, & Greg Piazza.

Drama Club

While the new P.A.C.E. program was developing, the WHS Drama Club, under the brilliant guidance of Mrs. Kelsch, was busy entertaining itself and the school with new and exciting adventures. One and all enjoyed an evening of laughter at our annual After Dinner Theater in November. This year's theme was "The Marx Brothers meet Monty Python." The new year saw the club busy with "Kids on the Block," a series of informative puppet skits about kids with handicaps, performed for school children around town. And the club closed out a great year by dabbling in some radio-oriented theater. As always, our director's skill and our members' talents assured a great display every time. WE CAN'T WAIT TO DO IT AGAIN NEXT YEAR! . . . A MILLION thanks to Mrs. Kelsch . . .

No Parentheses

No Parentheses, WHS's literary magazine, had another successful year. Taking a new turn, No P. created one edition this year. The magazine compiled creative works from the fall to the spring. Artwork, poetry, and prose were submitted and published from all grades. Members gave time to read, evaluate, type and collate the many articles. Although fighting computers and collating page after page was not the most delightful task, the end result was fantastic! No Parentheses "93" was on sale in June. The staff wishes to thank our advisors, Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Barraza, for all of their help and guidance throughout the year.

Co-Editor Rebecca Burk

Co-Editor Nancy Santoro

Key Club

As an organization with participation coming from all four grades, WHS Key Club achieved much during the 1992-1993 year. Designed for volunteer services in all areas, Key Club successfully organized the Thanksgiving food drive and Christmas toy collection. The profits of this year's Valentine carnation sale went towards adopting beds at the Pine Street Inn. The members worked on an individual basis at the Ellis Nursing Home, Circle of Friends here at Westwood High, Norwood Hospital, and a variety of other volunteer programs. The officers this year are very thankful to Mrs. Ann Matteson, faculty advisor, for her leadership, support, and encouragement. Special thanks to all the dedicated members who gave their time and energy to help make this a great year for Key Club.

Presidential Classroom participant John Collins.

Presidential Classroom

"Presidential Classroom is a program in which high school students from around the country travel to Washington D.C. for a week in the summer to learn about our government and how it works. The program was started by President John F. Kennedy in 1962. During my week I met with Rep. Joe Moakley and Senators John Kerry and Edward Kennedy, all of whom expressed a genuine interest in the P.C. program and my questions. I had the opportunity to sit in on a Supreme Court proceeding and attend sessions of Congress. We attended seminars with prominent Washington journalists, lobbyists, and politicians. The most interesting part of the program, however, was the kids themselves. Above all, I learned how to listen and respect the opinions and ideas of others, and how to negotiate a consensus of common values and goals. I would like to thank the League of Women Voters for their generous scholarship, without which I would not have had this great opportunity. Stay free." (John Collins)

Boys' & Girls' State

Thanks to the sponsorship of the Westwood Posts of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary, six students from the Class of 1993 were given the opportunity to experience and participate in a mock government forum. Jonathan Lynch, Elio Imbornone, David Cronin, and Jim Marsh travelled to Bentley College in Waltham with hundreds of other boys from across the state while Jennifer Van Gelder and Jennifer Fox ventured out to Mount Holyoke in South Hadley with approximately 250 young women. For the duration of the week, the citizens of "Boys' & Girls' State" were divided into two political parties, the Nationalists and the Federalists. Each party nominated officials, created a platform and devised campaign strategies for the final political rally. While the weather could have been a little cooler, the food a little better, and the male/female ratio a little higher, it was a great chance to make new friends and learn about the governmental process firsthand from the local to national level.

Student Government Day

Jen and I, as appointed delegates to Student Government Day, went to the State House. Prior to our visit, we attended a meeting at Quincy High School to prepare us for the activities on April 2, 1993. At the State House on April 2, the delegates were asked to sit in the House of Representatives, while their alternates were asked to go to the Senate Chambers. During the morning session, students from high schools all over Massachusetts ran a mock legislature meeting. We later broke for lunch where we listened to Governor Weld speak. The afternoon session was broken down into smaller discussion groups in which the topic of bills was discussed. One of the bills was a mandatory AIDS test for all high school juniors and seniors; this would be a requirement for graduation. The second bill was to waive the gym requirement for students who played a varsity sport. Later, on our wanderings around the State House, Jen and I met Senator Walsh. We found her to be an inspiring and extremely dedicated woman.

Academic Decathlon

Academic Decathlon consists of a team of students who, after much practicing, participate in a multischool academic meet. When we first started the year it seemed as if we were going to have a really strong team. As the practices marched on, however, we began to lose members and yet the team as a whole got stronger. Many of the members were actually specialized in one area which helped us in the competition overall. As the day of the competition loomed ahead, several people realized they could not attend the event. We went with what we had and, much to our surprise, came out with a few medals!

Math Team

A few days a month, Math Team met to compete in the SMML and the GBML Math meets. After practicing in the two excused blocks, we piled into Mr. Pender's van and drove off to spend the next few hours attempting to correctly solve the the problem sets in our competition rounds. We ate Math Team cookies, laughed together over the "ivy" bunch and Pete's bizarre hairstyles. We may not have come out on top of the math team world, but we had a great time with Mr. Pender, and even learned a thing or two about math.

School Store

The School Store had a very successful year as we surpassed the earnings of the past years. We expanded our sales through the acquisition of Coke products and sport drinks, as well as our always friendly and efficient service. We still prospered despite an unfortunate break-in. However, we have secured the store to make an unlawful entry near impossible as booby traps have been placed everywhere. We would like to thank Mr. Flahive and Mrs. Rosengarten for their support.

Safe Rides

The Safe Rides program at Westwood High School served an important part in both the community and the school. One night a month, Safe Ride members waited by the phone on a Friday or Saturday night and picked up anyone who had been drinking or was with someone who had been drinking and gave that person a ride home. The Safe Rides program encumbered some difficulties this year, and started later than usual. However, due to a small but dedicated group of juniors, Safe Rides overcame those problems and successfully functioned through the end of the year. Many thanks to our advisor, Mr. Flahive- we never could have made it without his help!

Morning Announcers

Under the direction of Mrs. Kelsch, six tired seniors took to the school's P.A. each morning to bring to the students and faculty the all important messages of the day. While at times it may have seemed as if no one was listening, we all knew the school would simply would have shut down were it not for morning announcements. But hey, someone must have been paying attention because Mr. Flahive's office was always full!

Peer Educators

This year, the Peer Educators got together and made a list of issues we thought would be important to kids at the Middle School. We split up into groups of four and five, and each group picked a different topic, such as drugs, peer pressure, resolution of conflicts, to talk about at the Middle School. We played icebreaker games and performed skits with them. The Peer Educators and the kids from the Middle School got some pretty good discussions going about issues concerning adolescence. We would like to thank Mrs. Linda Hanlon for her expertise and support.

Peer Counselors

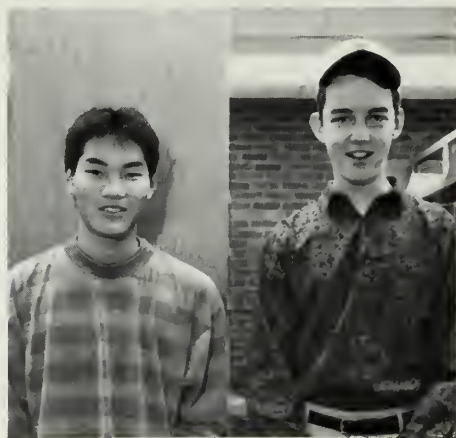

Peer Counselors is a group of dedicated students who give up their free time to talk to other students who may be in need of guidance. This year we helped the freshman class with the Discovery program. We had sessions after school and at night to discuss relevant issues that are common problems to high school students. With help from our advisor, Ms. Armstrong, we learned a lot and helped a few people along the way.

Green Years

The yearbook holds the memories of four years of high school, influencing the way we remember each other and the lives we lived in this time of our lives. The 1993 Green Years staff wanted to represent the memories of the good times so that, like our theme, we would be "Looking Forward To Looking Back." Creating the yearbook was a time-consuming, demanding task, but each of us knew that our reward would lie within the finished work. We often took work home with us, spending hours drawing layouts and cropping photos. Our creative urges were gratified in seeing the pages take form out of random photos and boxes drawn on grid layouts.

We watched the Class of 1993 emerge on the pages while we worked: the faces of our classmates looked out at us smiling, laughing, dancing, joking, participating in school life. The Class of 1993 had great character and spirit, and that more than anything came through in the yearbook.

The Green Years staff would like to thank Mrs. Petrakos for her dedication in completing the 1993 yearbook, giving her time and concentration through much of the school year and the summer. Thanks also to Mr. Flahave and the other "freelance" photographers who contributed to the yearbook. The memories we have created within this yearbook will last throughout our lives, a standing tribute to the Class of 1993 and the Green Years staff.

Human Rights

The Human Rights Club of 1992-1993 met and planned activities for the forthcoming year. Despite the fact that it took a little more than a term to find a staff advisor, Mr. Flahive came to our rescue and served as our advisor for the year. The 1993-1994 Human Rights Club will be more active than ever since this year's group has prepared an exciting new agenda.

Unicef

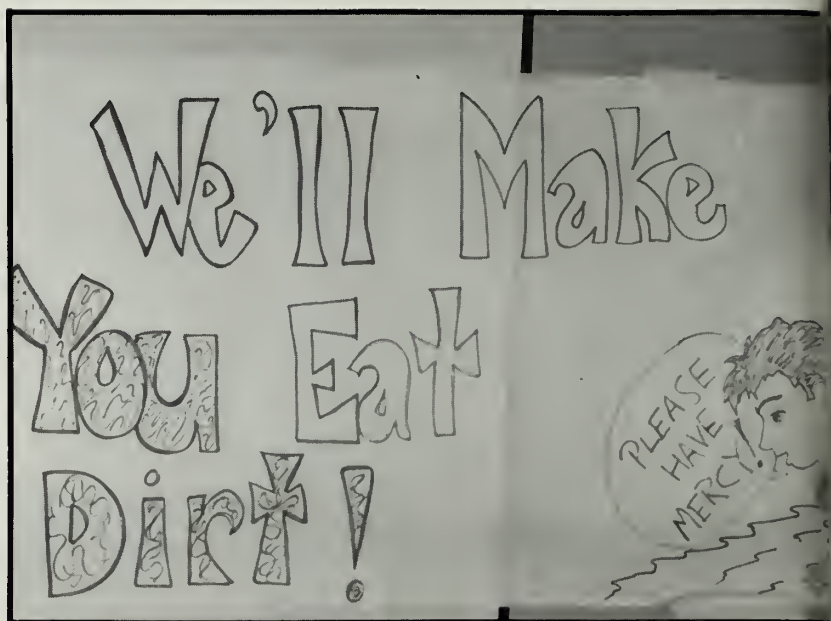

The UNICEF support group at WHS was established with the purpose of helping young people to understand the needs of other children in the third world countries and to give them the opportunity to share this information with the school community and to make a contribution. This year, we chose Somalia. We raised money through the Halloween Collection, Christmas and Mother's Day card sale. Cards were sold to students, faculty, and the community. All proceeds were donated to a fund for the people of Somalia.

Superbowl

WESTWOOD 23 WESTON 16

The Superbowl match-up against Weston was the most memorable event in the 1992 Superbowl Championship season. The Boston Globe predicted the score to be Weston 28 and Westwood 14. Before the game in the locker room, the seniors realized that it would be the last game of their high school careers. The game came down to Weston having possession of the ball with three minutes left in the game and a one point lead. Elio Imbornone caused the fumble and recovered it. The eventual outcome was a PJ McGrail touchdown run. Then Weston was able to march down the field to the Wolverine 35 with forty seconds left. Weston's final attempt at the end zone was denied when Matt Fink and Rich Siggins gave Cy a crushing hit. The Wolverines were victorious and 1992 Superbowl champions.

Football

Can't Stop the POWER!

Summary of the season:

Hopkinton: The first game against Hopkinton ended in a game winning field goal by Mark Connelly. Elio Imbornone led the young defense. Dover

Sherborn: The offense was sparked by Ted Duffy and Steve Prinn. The starting defense did not give up any points. Ash- land: The game was back and forth until Reed McLaughlin picked off a pass and returned it for a TD and secured the victory. Defensively Mike Troiano had six sacks. Millis: The offense was led by Bill Van Gelder's 100 yard effort. The defense had an all-around good effort. Medway: The offense was sparked by Rich Cocivera's TD catch. The defense was led by the hard hitting Elio Imbornone. Medfield: The offense was led by a couple of Steve Prinn's TD receptions. The defense recorded its second shut-out. Wayland: The offense and defense were led by Elio Imbornone's hard running and hitting.

Bellingham: PJ McGrail emerged for over 200 yards rushing. The defense had great efforts from tackle Rich Siggins.

Holliston: The offense was sparked once again by a 100 yard effort by PJ McGrail. The defense was led by Matt Fink's sacks and caused fumble and recovery. Weston: The offense once again was sparked by the game winning touchdown run by PJ McGrail. The defense was led by the play of Joe Jowdy.

double sessions, Carroll speeches, Sperandio's shivers, Smasher, Queally imitations, Legion dinners, Wolf's speech against Medfield, Marsh draw play against Hoptown, Troiano's 6 sacks in one game. Reed's interception against Ashland, Fink's hit against the quarterback at Wayland, Elio's hit on Cy which enabled us to score and win, practices in the gym, defensive hits, The 4 horsemen, and the quarterback sacks by Fink, Siggins, and Troiano. Think, deliver, beating Holliston, you can't stop the power, either snow or rain every game, you can't block me, oh ya, we're #1, Scrub O, Bellingham looks top heavy, realistically between 3rd and 7th, headwound, 10 jumpin jacks, all night party, be smart, get off these balls and come around, Wayland locker room, Cy not, Holliston not, jacked up sleeves (Fink). 3 year losing streak against Holliston was ended. Super Bowl victory every election year, gold rings, leather sleeves, and finally the t-shirts. Winning isn't everything, it is the only thing. There is no I in team. Super bowl party at Elio's (all night party), Wonderland Motel, Plaqueless team, goal line stand 12/5/92 at the Super Bowl, a locker room party after the Superbowl game, TV coverage, Susi's candy, and most of all an undefeated SuperBowl season.

What would you bequeath to next year's team?

Field Hockey

Victory At Last

The 1992 Field Hockey Team was the best one since 1989. Our record was 3-9-2. Despite the nine losses, this Field Hockey Team fought hard, and, therefore, earned the respect from other teams in the league. We were led by Betsy Dugan, our fourth coach in 4 years. She was the main reason for the turnaround. Having played Division I hockey, she brought her knowledge of the game and created a competitive team. And this team was eager to learn and compete on a higher level than usual. We opened the season against rival Holliston and fought hard to a 2-1 loss. This loss was a moral victory for us. We got our first win against Hopkington and carried this momentum with a win over Dover-Sherborn. The second half of the season, we beat Dover-Sherborn again and tied Medfield 1-1 and Ashland 1-1. Our captains led by example and all the seniors encouraged the younger players. This encouragement was especially given to sophomore Jill Spangler who stepped into goal for the injured Lisa Troiano. She responded admirably to this task.

Side Kicks

BEQUEATHAL: A sense of humor with a losing record. Many yellow and red cards. The same caliber of referees we had. One captain.

MOST MEMORABLE GAME: The most memorable game was the first time we played Ashland at Ashland. At the half we were losing 2-0 to a team that on a good day six of us could have beaten their eleven.

We were simply pitiful. In the second half, we came out strong in the first ten minutes to tie the game 2-2 only to be lulled to sleep again. Soon the score was 4-2 and we were frantically trying to catch up yet a second time. With ten minutes left we scored three unanswered goals with the fifth coming with about one minute left. This game was memorable because it was one of the worst displays of soccer, but somehow we managed to win.

MEMORIES: The new coach and his creative sayings like, "Only in America," "You couldn't finish a hot dinner," "This isn't Christmas and we're not giving out presents," and "What do you think, it's your birthday?" Captain's practices before double sessions were fun as usual, especially with the great turnout of freshmen. They enjoyed goal-hanging which separated the boys from the littler boys. Having a JV is an important memory. Having two sets of twins was just great. The game against Bellingham when we had thirty shots on net with no goals to count for it when they had but three shots on net and three goals to count for them. This game was a freak of nature that said something about the season and how we always gave our best without a great end result.

SUMMARY OF SEASON: A young team under a new coach, we were to be the surprise of the Tri-Valley League, and despite a few games, we always stayed in the game, and had a chance to win. The coach liked the European style of having players on the field playing the whole game, so the team needed to be in excellent shape. We learned how to play together as a team, and always enjoyed the camaraderie and friendships which superceded our success in terms of record. Most of us stayed healthy, and for the most part had a good time. We would not exchange that for an undefeated season.

Girls' Soccer

A Turn of the Tides

At the beginning of the season, the Girls' Soccer Team was predicted to be a big competitor on the field. Filled with strong, skilled players who knew the game, Mr. Niles and his team were looking towards a great season; but then the tides turned. Multiple injuries and sickness plagued the team taking out key players for long periods of time. It seemed every game brought a new name onto the injured-reserve list; however, the injuries and losses could not damper their spirits. They had great team spirit and were always there for each other. Though their record may not have been as great as they had hoped, their team spirit surpassed everyone's expectations. Bequeathal: No injuries!

Cross Country

On the Road Again!

SUMMARY OF SEASON: Early in September, the team was called together for first practice. After some discussion, it was discovered that many had worked hard over the summer. So, we started with a solid foundation of strength and endurance. The team, itself, stumbled in its first meet against Holliston, but many personal goals were attained. Unfortunately, the rest of the '92 season ended similarly. Despite our losing record, everyone put in solid practices day after day and substantial improvement was seen in all.

MEMORIES: The best memory of 1992 is undoubtedly our only win over a young Hopkinton team.

BEQUEATHAL: We, the Cross-Country Team of 1992, bequeath a winning record and new and better uniforms for the team of 1993.

MOST MEMORABLE EVENT: Although our only win was very memorable, the most memorable meet was held in Franklin Park, Boston. It was not the race that was memorable but the events that transpired afterwards. As the team waited to leave, one of our team members proceeded to break the horn of the bus. When the busdriver discovered that her horn was no longer functional, she let him know how she felt!

HONORS: Dan Dobra received Tri-Valley League All-Star status.

"We started with a solid foundation of strength and endurance."

Volleyball

Staying T

The season started off shakey for the Girls' Volley Ball Team with a tough loss to Holliston. However, the girls came together to play their best game of the season against their arch rival Holliston. With a great win under their belts they seemed to be on the road to a winning season; then one of their best players got hurt. With one of their leaders out, the team had to pull together - and they did. Everyone showed excellence on and off the court. Though they never made it to the play-offs, they had a great time throughout the season.

Memories: Darlene's sweat and depression, the Haunted House, Coupons at Papa Gino's, Whit's party and Margo's gross comments, the Governance trial, letter to coach saying "Play ev-

Girls' Swimming

South Sectional Champs

The Westwood Girls' Swim Team continued their undefeated dual meet season for the second consecutive year and 25 consecutive meets. Important wins included the Attleboro Bishop Feehan and especially the Ursuline teams. Ursuline was the reigning South Sectional Champions, but was defeated in a dual meet for the second year in a row by the Wolverines. The team prepared for the South Sectionals with wins over Seekonk, Duntree, Notre Dame, Stoughton and Canton, and along the way many school records and personal bests were achieved. The team won the South Sectionals for the first time in history with Wendy Rowe winning 2 events and Chrissy Riley winning 1. Other great performances included Donna Guglielmi, Gina Duff, Sarah Lanning, Eileen O'Dea, Julie Harrington, and Courney Patterson.

Football Cheerleaders

Through Rain, Sleet, and Snow

The season started out "rough" for the football cheerleaders. The lack of a coach led to unproductive practices and disorganization; however, after the team got a coach, they settled down and really began to improve. As the games passed, the team looked stronger than it had ever looked.

But they were not without the pitfalls of every football season. They suffered through cold and rainy games, loud bus rides, and snow. Yet through it all, the cheerleaders stuck to their routines and impressed the crowd, keeping up both the spirits of the team and the crowd.

The Magnificent Seven

Despite the fact that every other day someone quit the team, the "Magnificent Seven" stuck it out to the end and did a great job. At one point, the team was down to only five cheerleaders; however, the team continued to cheer well. They kept their spirits up and gave the basketball team enough support to go all the way to the Eastern Mass championships.

Overall, we had a great season. The seven cheerleaders: Kim, Bonnie, Aisha, Magda, Nancy, Latifa and Kasey were the best. There will never be another seven like them. The team wishes the boys the best of luck next year and hopes the cheerleading team is successful.

A Fairy Tale Season

SUMMARY OF SEASON: We started off strong, winning the Avon Tournament then faltered during the beginning of Tri-Valley League play. We won eight out of nine games at home but struggled on the road. Near the end of the season with a chance to capture first place, we lost our last three games.

We ended the season in fifth place in a competitive T.V.L. It didn't look good heading into the tourney, but we brought it all together and went to the South Sectional Finals.

Girls' Basketball

Living Up to Their Heritage

The Girl's Basketball Team started off strong with an unpredicted win against Holliston in the second game of the season.

Left out of the newspapers' predictions for the top twenty, the girls slowly crept back in turning a few heads as they did. They played tenacious defense led by seniors Whitney Ilg, Nancy Radden, and Theresa Conley, and played a run and gun game under the leadership of point guard Christy Kiriacopoulos, which often led in easy lay-ups or jumpshots put in by Tricia Higgins. However the girls hit a slump with losses to Medway and Medfield and even Holliston. The girls fought hard and played well, but could not pull out close games. With splits to Medway and Holliston and two losses to Medfield and Hopkinton, the girls had to regroup for tournament. After tears, anger, and a lot of soul searching, the girls came together and displayed why they deserve the high respect the Westwood girls have earned over the years. They played a beautiful game against Norton before falling to Medway. Led by five seniors, the team was experienced, talented and they were friends. And despite outside propaganda, the girls surged ahead against the beliefs and criticisms of the media and other coaches. And most importantly they did it together as a team. And though the streak was broken last year, and the '93 team faced tough losses, the tradition of pride and hard work remained unbroken and is one which will never end.

To next year's team we leave a year without Saturday morning practices and the pride of the Westwood tradition.

“The tradition of pride and hard work remained unbroken.”

All Wet!

SUMMARY OF SEASON: The entire season was a struggle. We had an inexperienced and very small team. Everyone worked hard, but the team ran into further problems when the pool heater broke. The team improved as the season progressed and the new members fell into place. We managed to win two meets towards the end of the season.

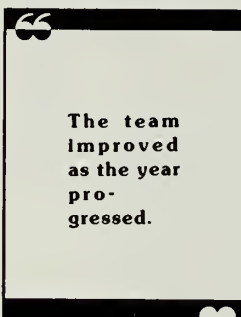

MEMORIES:

Tom's car accident, CakeFest III- the Reunion, Daily bus trips to Blue Hills, the rapacious Blue Hills female water polo players, "Bri, I think those girls are checking out my leg."

CREATIVE AWARDS: BRIAN LAWTON- the almost award; RORY O'DEA- most likely to have name mispronounced; MILTON HIGH SCHOOL- most likely to condemn hacky-sacks.

BEQUEATHAL: The continuance of CakeFest - A reliable heater.

MEMORABLE EVENT:

The game of water polo against the Blue Hills Coed swim team. Battling a larger team, poor visibility and unscrupulous girls, we managed to prevail. The girls had no qualms regarding the use of their nails but we returned their hospitality with our own fair share of dunks.

HONORS: MVP- Jim Fitzgerald. Sportmanship- Rory O'Dea. Unsung hero- Tom Gallagher. League All-Stars- Kevin Foster, Jim Fitzgerald.

Too Cold To Hold

SUMMARY: The season started with a lot of question marks, but they were soon all answered. A lot of people said that we lost too much but we vowed to prove them wrong and did. Although the record suggests a disappointing season, the team managed to rally during the latter half of the season, winning seven games and capturing a 10th straight TVL Championship. We vaulted into the tourney beating Southeastern Regional, Martha's Vineyard, and Lynnfield in OT before a heartbreaking loss in quadruple OT on a heavily disputed goal that never crossed the goal line.

Girls' Hockey

Breaking
the Ice

They practiced on a backyard pond with portable lights, but still the girls fought the weather and practicing conditions to become the first Girls' Hockey Team at Westwood High School. The team began as a request from Jill Santopietro to Athletic Director Joe Gearon last season. Though Dr. Gearon was hesitant, Jill persisted and rounded up a list of interested girls, a list of expenses, equipment, ice time and coaches. The girls got the go-ahead from Dr. Gearon, raised funds, found equipment and ice; all they needed now were some coaches. That's OK - the girls recruited their dads. Mr. Santopietro, Mr. Speros and Mr. Connors became the first coaches. Practicing at night and dawn in rinks and on ponds, the team and coaches learned the ropes. Though many of the girls had never played hockey before, they did very well and gained much needed experience. The girls also acquired loyal fans who came to cheer them on. The Girls' Hockey Team was a welcomed addition to the athletic department and an advancement in girls' sports. In the future the girls hope to become a real force and maybe encourage other schools to build a girls' hockey team.

Thanks Mr. Santopietro, Mr. Speros and Mr. Connors.

Enthusiasm Revived

Girls' Track

With the substantial increase in runners this season, the near-forgotten enthusiasm of past seasons was revived and will pave the way for many more successful seasons in the future. Whether it was the devoted work ethic to practice rain or shine, a sacrifice for the team to earn needed points, the quest to break a record, or the denial of pain for the pursuit of victory, this enthusiasm became a characteristic of every member of the team and brought the team to a level it had not reached in many years. Guided by the supportive coaching of Mr. Relleva and Mr. Hargreaves, the team tied for fifth place in the Tri-Valley League and showed that the program was finally getting back on track.

MEMORIES:

After this season Relleva's ego has been severely diminished due to the shotput GANG, with added help from the Mat Queens and Captain Sun Goddess. Delaney, Riley, and a dizzy Rose forced Jeff to do his job. Hurdle Master Conley taught the Frosh her techniques and gave rise to a star in Petrolini. The 400 Relay won second in the TVL and ran well at the States. Higgins remained undefeated in the 400 and three freshmen received honorable mention all-star status.

Off to a Great Start

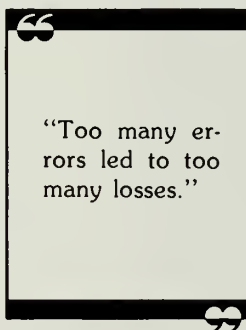

Led by seniors Joy Howland and Lisa Troiano, the Westwood High Girls' Softball Team got off to a great start with a big win over Bellingham. Then things went downhill. The team had a lot of talent, but too many errors cost them too many games. However the team did pick up two wins over Millis and played in a lot of close games. The Wolverines even gave powerhouse Ashland a real scare. Despite the losses the team had a lot of fun and will never forget practices with their favorite coach Mrs. Hillberg.

Boys' Tennis

Back To The Future

SUMMARY: As first practice rolled around, the season looked promising. Sure, we had lost 6 of our 7 starters, but we expected a lot of new talent and strong returning players. Well, not many returned, but the freshmen that joined showed spark and aggression along with talent. Senior Captain Greg Piazza played first singles and Sophomore Victor Servello played second while freshman sensation Britt Greenbaum stepped up to play third singles with his tenacious counterpunching and non-stop trash talking. Freshman Drew Thistlethwaite displayed early brilliance with his first doubles partners Chris Barry and Ben Christian. Second doubles consisted of freshman Dave Weiner and Junior Andy Corbett. Although the team went 3-9, Piazza went the distance with some of the best in the TVL, while Servello not only avenged some early losses but established a name for himself in the league.

MEMORIES: Coach Damish's quotes, "I think Justin's coming today!", "Wait, I thought Brad graduated.", "We're the best 3-9 team in the league.", "As a coach I get really ticked . . .", "Has anyone seen Chris Barry today?", "There's no reason why we shouldn't beat every team in the league.", "It's a rebuilding year!" Britt's Ice Tea, hot sweaty men, Poppin' fresh, "Piz", Hairclub, Dave Weiner's wise mouth.

AWARDS: Most Likely to Wise Off to Coach- Drew Thistlethwaite Most Likely to forget where he lives- Britt Greenbaum. Trash-talking Award- Vic Servello and Britt Greenbaum

BEQUEATHAL: -The Tri-Valley League Title -A State Tournament spot

-The best of luck to VJ, Britt, and Drew.

MEMORABLE EVENT: Our last match against Millis was probably the most memorable not only because it was the only other match we won besides Ashland, but because last year's team came to watch. A reunion match showcased returning doubles players Chris Blomquist and Mark Sullivan. Jimmy Caruso refused to take part in the festivities preferring to undergo male-bonding with Coach Damish.

HONORS: MVP- Victor Servello. Unsung Hero- Greg Piazza. Sportsmanship- Britt Greenbaum.

Girls' Tennis

The Girls' Tennis Team had an exceptionally short pre-season due to the foot of snow on the courts. The lack of practice, however, did not seem to be a problem because the team won most of its matches with ease - all except for Dover-Sherborn, in which we were narrowly defeated both times. These defeats could not stop us as we confidently entered the State Tournament. The team beat Carver and Norwell but lost the semifinals to Sharon.

Memories: Sarah's elegant dive over the net . . . Did Anna eat all the food?

Our loyal fan: Dad Wagner . . . That's a winna . . .

Bequeathal: We bequeath to next year's team an endless supply of junk food.

Most memorable event: Our most memorable match was against Norwell in the quarter-finals of the South Sectionals. Liz Sullivan played her best tennis of the year, 6-0, 6-1. Joyce Wagner and Jen McDonald, Westwood's first doubles team, produced a convincing 6-1, 6-1 victory. The second doubles team of Laura Corcoran and Ali Lynch won easily. Saumya Sharma fought her way back from a 1st set loss to win 3-6, 6-2, 6-0, and Sarah Lanning, the queen of 3 set matches, was barely defeated in three sets.

Honors: Saumya Sharma, Liz Sullivan, Joyce Wagner and Jen McDonald were all Transcript All-Stars. Saumya Sharma was team MVP; Liz Sullivan was the team's Unsung Hero; and Laura Corcoran received the Sportsmanship Award.

POWDER PUFF

"Poof" went the boys

The senior festivities began on November 10, 1992 with a Pre-Powder Puff Bash. Competition was in the air and already the boys envisioned themselves as the victors. The following morning, after many hours of grueling practice, the girls finally had the chance to strut their stuff. Needless to say, the boys were put to shame. With the help of coaches Mark Connelly, Rick Cocivera, Matt Fink, And Elio Imbornone the girls fought their way to victory.

Offensive teams, Fink's Ferocious Lifting Ladies and Son's Hot Buns, and defensive teams, Con's Kinky Kittens and Rick's Ruthless Chic's, worked well together guarding, tackling, and passing up and down the WHS football field.

SENIOR BANQUET

On May 26, 1993, the Senior Class gathered in the beautifully decorated WHS cafeteria for a night of memories. As the history of the class was read, each and every one of us relived the pasts we had shared together. The traditional playing of "Novel Quest" united our class one last time and provided us all with laughs. The long awaited Senior Superlatives were announced and gifts of appreciation were given to deserving administration, Mr. Flaherty and Mr. Flahive. And finally, with the showing of the slide show, the Class of 1993 laughed, cried, and celebrated the wonderful memories that we had shared. Thanks to all who made the banquet a permanent memory in our hearts and minds.

B E A C H T R I P

The Senior Class journeyed to Crane's Beach for the annual senior class beach trip. After an exacting graduation rehearsal that same morning, almost everyone was ready to catch some rays. When we arrived at Crane's, the sun was shining brightly and with a temperature of 80 degrees, it was a perfect day for all the games and the getting of tans. The catered meals were plentiful, good and enjoyed by all. It seemed as if we would never stop eating. We hated to see this day come to an end as we realized it was one of the last chances that we would share together as a class. However, end it did - with wonderful memories for all.

C N L I A G S H S T

On June 10, 1993, parents and friends joined the graduates in recognizing their academic, musical, dramatic and service achievements. During the ceremony we heard the class history of our senior year read by Rebecca Burk and Kerry Larkin, co-editors of Green Years, the dedication of Green Years to deserving Mr. Chatterton, and the class poem, written and read by Cathy Walencis. It was a night of recognition for many, many members of our class.

PROM NIGHT 1993

On May 21, the Sheraton Tara Hotel in Braintree hosted the 1993 Junior-Senior Prom. Prom Queen, Jen Mara, and her court, seniors Kristine Farren, Patrice Jefferson, Kerry Larkin, Aisha Owens, and juniors Kim Dennis, Meg Earls, Cara Nassisi, and Kerry Robertson, represented the school with unique style. The dance floor displayed an array of colors as we danced our way through the night. With the theme "Forever Young" we knew it would be a night to remember. PRESIDENT'S and VALEDICTORIAN'S MESSAGES

As your class president, I proudly stand before you to welcome our families, administration, faculty and friends to celebrate as we end our years in Westwood schools and move on to an new educational experience.

Today, our last and most important day as the graduating Class of 1993, we reflect on our years together. We have all grown together. We have shared hardships and triumphs. The hardships have made us stronger in facing the adversities of the future. The triumphs have made us humble in knowing that determination makes for success.

In the fall of 1989 we entered the illustrious Westwood High School . . . During this first year at Westwood High School, we carried our pride in our pockets, and we went about our schoolwork with this feeling resting heavily in our hearts. Until we discovered what intelligence, courage, and determination really were. A fellow classmate inspired us to always strive for the best and to always persevere no matter how hard things may seem. Her name was Christina. Our graduation ceremony could not be complete unless we recognize what an important special individual she was and is to all of us - For it was Christina who showed us what courage was all about. From the sadness, our lives were transformed, our hearts were softened and we carried on with mutual respect for one another . . . The Class was not alone, though. We had the support of our parents. Our parents instilled our admirable qualities so we could become the diversified, good citizens that we are today. Through all of the sadness, the disappointment and jubilation, our parents were there. So thank you, Mom's and Dad's, for rooting us on and leading us to our success . . . We thank our public school system for providing us with a strong foundation - caring teachers and a pleasant environment.

Now the graduating Class of 1993 is prepared to leave its sheltered environment. As we leave our shelter, we enter a world filled with uncertainty. No one knows what the future holds. We are living in a changing world. It is up to each one of us to secure our own future by choosing the right path . . . Congratulations, Class of 1993! We finally made it!

We are the music makers.

And we are the dreamers of dreams . . .

We are now graduating from high school, and the words of Arthur O'Shaughnessy's "Ode" are meant for us, the Class of 1993, the generation now making its way into the world. We, the dreamers of dreams, face the possibilities of our future, a future that will be driven by our emerging ambitions. Thanks to parents, teachers, and friends, we possess the confidence, the knowledge, and the skills to draw from deep within us, to create lives for ourselves in this world.

Each generation has the power to shift the outlook of its society. Social and political empires have been built and then destroyed generation after generation, time and time again. Our generation is emerging in an age in which old empires are falling, leaving the way clear to build an era of our own, an empire which attempts to deal with the problems within our society. Communism is failing around the world; our adult lives will influence and witness the creation of a new world order in which military warfare is no longer crucial. The national and worldwide economy is transforming itself once again through the Information Revolution, and our generation will be the first to enter the business world with considerable exposure to and instruction in computer technology throughout our initial development. Our awareness of the environment, the threats to its well-being, and its impact on our lives have again been an emphasized part of our upbringing, at home, in school, and in the media . . .

We, as graduates of Westwood High, as the prospective movers and shakers of the world, possess the necessary elements to be a part of our generation's influence on the world around us. We are independent, trained in analytical thought by our teachers, urged to use our talents to the best of our ability. In seeking success, we know to work hard, yet to constantly seek a better way to achieve an end result. In short, we have grown into the legacy of America's independence and innovation. These years ahead of us will now call us to cultivate and refine our abilities, so that we may follow the course of our dreams. Our generation's empire will be built on the results of these dreams; its essence will be the qualities of independence and innovativeness which we have been brought up to demonstrate; its physical manifestation will be our generation's response to the situations and problems within our society as we find them to be . . .

The upcoming years are not important merely because of our possible impact on the world, however. We are individuals, brought up to follow our ideals and principles . . . Let us take these years to enhance our individuality, to brighten the inner light of life within us. Let us be the music-makers; let us follow the dreams, our dreams, that are coming to birth.

GRADUATION

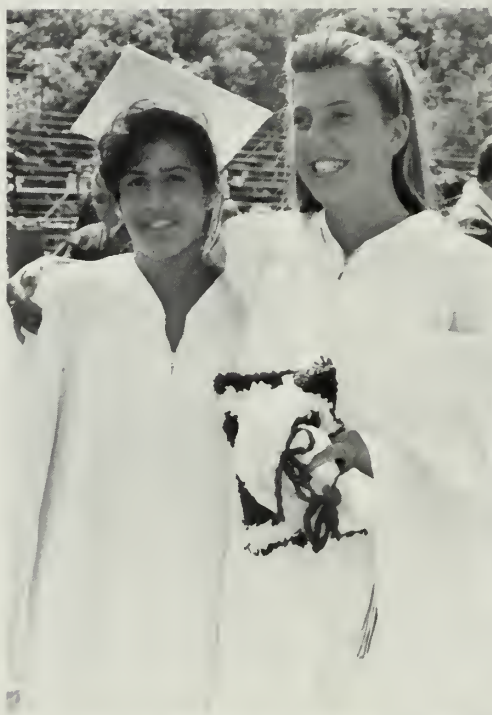

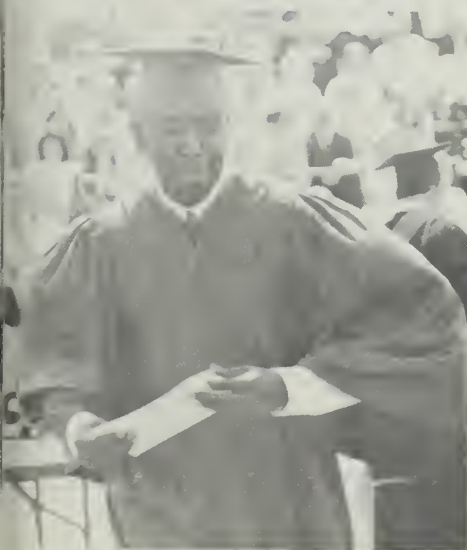

The day had finally arrived - June 3, 1993 - and we were saying goodbye to high school forever. The sun was shining and only the slight breeze kept the day comfortable. As the ceremony progressed and the number of beach balls flying through the air grew, we were ready to get our diplomas and party all through the night. After about an hour and a half and several pounds of grapes, we were officially graduated. Although we all went home with smiles on our faces, we knew that that night would be the last time we would truly be together as a class. Thanks to Mrs. Perry and Miss Dillon and everyone else who made graduation and the all-night party memories which will last a lifetime.

1993 Class History

We first entered Westwood High School as a class in September of 1989. Some of us were lucky enough to have been given a tour earlier on by a friend, a sibling, or even a friend's sibling. But when classes started, that help quickly vanished and many of us were directed towards the math wing through the boiler room by secretly insecure upperclassmen. Others had the incredible opportunity to participate in double sessions, where hazing was—ahem—NOT to be tolerated. Luckily, we had Matthew Fink as president, Lisa Troiano as vice-president, Tricia Higgins as secretary, and James Resha as treasurer to guide us through the trials and tribulations of our freshman year.

And as if being freshmen, the lowest of the low, wasn't enough, we were dubbed by the media as the Westwood class which had suffered the "Brain Drain." As a class, we had a lot to prove academically.

Athletically, most of us saw our action in the JV games or warming the varsity benches. But a chosen few of us saw some varsity action. Still others who cheered from the sidelines were able to cheer on some incredible teams. Both of the Boys' Hockey Team and Girls' Basketball Team earned well-deserved Tri Valley League championship titles. The Girls' Soccer Team and the Football Team also had superb records, as did both the Winter and Spring Track Teams. The Boys' Basketball and Soccer Teams finished off their seasons on a high note. And the Field Hockey Team managed to score a spirit-lifting goal.

Sports was not the only area that we, as first year students, excelled in. Other extracurricular activities were helped along with our help and encouragement. Two After Dinner Theatres were put on by the Drama Club, as was the spring play, "Twain by the Tail." The Marching Band placed third in the New England Finals and it received two honorable mentions. The Key Club sponsored a bloodmobile, and SADD and Safe Rides both kept up their ongoing battle against drunk driving. Student Council raised our awareness through "A Day in the Life of a Homeless Person," as did the Student Advisory Board with its "adoption" of East Clarendon High School after Hurricane Hugo. We were also lucky to be the entering class for events now annual, such as the Arts Festival and Spring Fling Week.

We said, "So long," to the Double Quartet and "Auf Wiedersehen" to the huge German exchange program. We also said "Farewell" to some fantastic teachers who retired: Mr. George Hancox, Mr. Thomas E. Nelson, and Miss Priscilla J. Congdon (from whom we learned never to face our backs to the teacher). And, sadly, said "Goodbye" to a much respected and much loved teacher, Miss Judith Bolles, who will live forever in the memories of those students lucky enough to have had her as a teacher.

As June rolled around, our long-term goals of college, a profession, and a family changed to a mere survival to our senior year. And as the last day of our first final exams came upon us, we only hoped to make it to become sophomores. It wasn't a great aspiration, but it couldn't possibly be as bad as being freshmen, could it?

SOPHOMORE YEAR

In September of 1990, the Class of 1993 confidently returned to Westwood High, realizing we were no longer little tiny freshmen. Sophomore year had begun; we were not at the bottom anymore and thought things would continue to get better and better. Our class officers, Joy Howland (President), Christy Doyle (Vice President), Christine Sceppa (Secretary), and Jim Marsh (Treasurer) worked closely with our advisor, Mrs. Runci, throughout the year.

But tenth grade got off to a rough start. When Christina Grueter passed away the whole class felt an immense loss. Christina will always be an important member of the Class of 1993.

As our sophomore year progressed, it became a year of champions and great accomplishments. The Hockey Team became the memorable 1991 Division III State Champions. Also in athletics, the Football Team, Girls' Basketball, and the Golf Team were all named Tri-Valley Champions. During its first year "Legacy" became the 1991 Novice Division NESBA Winterguard Champions. The second annual Arts Festival was again a success with art and performances from a wide range of students. Many in the Class of 1993 were also involved in helping others. In Key Club, members of our class volunteered at places such as Norwood Hospital, the Recreation Department, and Circle of Friends. Many were also involved in the UNICEF Support Group, which sponsored activities such as the Mother's Day Card Sale, helping those less fortunate. Amnesty International sponsored a "Battle of the Bands," which was a great success. Also Student Advisory Board began a tradition of aving a Valentine's Day Party for the children at the Italian Home for Children. The Sophomore Class gave much of its time in achieving these accomplishments.

Now as June rolled around we all looked forward to that all important Junior Year. The Class of 1993 was finally going to become upperclassmen.

JUNIOR YEAR

The autumn of 1991 fell upon us, and we came back to the high school, this time as juniors. However, we would soon learn that our first year as upperclassmen did not include all fun and games.

As juniors, we had to develop and prove ourselves, both scholastically and personally. But leadership from President Joy Howland, Vice President Christy Doyle, Secretary Mark Connelly, and Treasurer Tricia Higgins, guided us in the right direction.

Juniors were introduced to the harsh realities and rituals of the academic world, which included SAT's, Achievement Tests, and AP exams. Right from the beginning, most of us became intimidated with comments such as, "This is the most important year of your lives," or "You're going to have to work really hard this year, because it means a lot." But with aid from our dedicated teachers, we earned we could survive.

Sportswise, we showed we could more than survive; we could conquer. Football played an excellent 9-1 season, while the Girls' Swim Team, with its highly talented junior members, won the South Sectionals. Although field hockey did not come out on top, the team had serious potential for a great next season. The highly and rightfully acclaimed Girls' Basketball Team led Westwood High all the way to Boston Garden. The Baseball Team became the victors of the Tri-Valley League and also played in post season. And last, but certainly not least, Boys' Hockey defeated all in its path for another Division Three win for the second year in a row! Okay, so maybe being academic was not our forte.

We also came out on top in the Music Department. The Color Guard "Legacy" definitely proved its legendary efforts in various competitions, where the group always placed in a top position. Juniors also played a large role in implementing a new and original Constitution for the school community in the Governance Board, which instituted new committees such as the Legislative, Judicial, and Arbitration Councils, and the School Climate and Elections and Nominations Committee.

Many of us would take part in these activities during our senior year, a year we definitely looked forward to as we jealously watched the former seniors graduate in 1992. The year 1993 would mean a whole new experience for us, in which we would develop the ability to further recognize and fulfill our interests and goals, especially those of the future.

SENIOR YEAR

Despite the extra week of vacation, the Senior Class entered this school year already afflicted with severe cases of senioritis. But thanks to the dedicated leadership of President Joy Howland, Vice-President Christy Doyle, Treasurer Sarah Brett, and Secretary Mark Connelly, we managed to survive the year with some semblance of success.

Right from the start we were swamped with the usual stress of college applications and a never-ending amount of deadlines. However, many seniors took the easy way out and had an overwhelming rate of success when it came to early decision acceptances. The rest of the class applied using the usual amount of time and had to suffer the endless wait to hear from the colleges of our choice. But we all survived the grueling process.

The Westwood High School sports teams had extremely successful seasons this year despite dire predictions. The Football Team once again won the Superbowl, while the Girls' Swim Team were the South Sectional champions. Wendy Rowe won an honored spot on Hi Five and the team participated in an "I like Mike" commercial for Channel 5 Sports. The Boys' Basketball Team were finalists in the South Sectionals and the Girls' Team qualified for the State Tournament. Also for the first time ever in the history of Westwood High, a Girls' Hockey Team was formed and gave a very good showing for their first try. The Girls' Tennis Team were semifinalists in the State Tournament and the Baseball Team won a spot in the State Tourney as well. And once again, the Boys' Hockey Team captured the title of Eastern Mass. champions.

In the fall, the PACE program was created which enabled students to learn about theater, music, set design, and creation. With the outstanding support of advisor Ms. Karen Hall, PACE gave spectacular performances of "The Dining Room" and "Mame." And the students in the handicap puppet program, headed by Mrs. Stephanie Kelsch, performed for elementary students to provide information on handicap awareness issues. The Fine Arts Department certainly enjoyed a very busy year.

The Westwood High School Constitution, created and accepted by the high school community last year, was finally put into action. The Legislative Council enjoyed a busy year full of lunch block meetings and discussions on submitted "bills." For example, next year the school will finally have a student lounge due to the efforts of some dedicated seniors. The Judicial Council and the Elections and Nominations Committee deliberated on issues that arose during the course of the year, while the School Environment Committee was formed to consider important issues about relationships between community members. The Arbitration Council expanded to include members of the Harvard Negotiations Team, trained in settling disputes between individual groups. Overall, it looked like the governance system was beginning to stand on its feet and begin to actively participate in school life.

Senior activities reached new heights this year. We started the year off with a great Homecoming Week with a Powder Puff dance, Powder Puff football game (girls had an outstanding showing), and a homecoming victory. The class turned out in its winter finery for the Winter Semi-formal which raised money for the Senior Class. Spring Fling Week introduced three new colors-Jade, Fuchsia, and the winning Sunshine team. The senior guys strutted their stuff on the walkway in competition for the coveted Mr. Westwood High title and Matt Keller came out as King of the Mountain. The Junior-Senior Class Prom was a stunning success due to the efforts of the Junior Class. The Senior Banquet emphasized the unity of our class as friends gathered to look at baby photos, play Novel Quest, and receive their paper plate awards for Senior Superlatives. And a great time was had by all students who attended the class Beach Trip, especially due to the incredible weather, high spirits, and good music to dance to on the bus ride home.

These are only a few of the memories that we will all look back on in the years to come. Others may have had private doubts, but as a class we definitely did not lack talent, spirit, and most importantly, unity. So we, the Class of 1993, would like to thank those people who helped us arrive at this point and each other for the memories we will always have of our years together.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1993

We the members of the Class of 1993 of Westwood High School, Westwood, Massachusetts, county of Norfolk, USA, Planet Earth, here by declare this last will and testament, thus voiding any previous wills and codicils.

FIRST

We leave to the Class of 1994 all of those invigorating college processes, i.e. applications, interviews, deposits, rejections, as well as a year of "sanity" and "reckless living."

SECOND

We leave to the Class of 1995 the Junior/Senior Prom, as well as the privilege of taking on a new identity and coming that much closer to being one of us An UPPERCLASSMAN.

THIRD

We leave to the Class of 1996 a place at Westwood High School were they belong, their own sophomoric behavior, and the ability not to get caught.

WHS ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL HONORED

Corporate sponsorships and a little fame aren't things Charles Flahive encounters every day with his job as the assistant principal at Westwood High School.

However, Flahive is off to Las Vegas early next month for a conference, with McDonalds paying his fee. Then he's off to Illinois in April for a three-day conference called Leadership Forum for the 21st Century. McDonalds will also pick up the tab.

In May Flahive will be recognized in a ceremony here in this state.

All the excitement has occurred since Flahive was named the state's vice-principal of the year by the Massachusetts Secondary Schools Administration Association (MSSAA).

The title was awarded to an unknown Flahive last November, after a committee of four officials with the MSSAA narrowed the field from about a dozen to just one.

Flahive started his education career 35 years ago when he took a job as a business teacher in the Westwood schools after graduating from Boston University.

He became the high school's assistant principal 13 years ago.

During his tenure with the school, Flahive has been active in education well beyond the classroom.

Flahive is directly involved with the Westwood students, working with the student council, the student advisory board and various activities like the prom.

Before becoming assistant principal, Flahive worked on 23 yearbooks as an advisor.

A real commitment to the Westwood High School can be seen in Flahive's office, which contains plaques, trophies or other tributes to the school's successes or to the students' activities.

In one area of his office is a box of red ribbons used in the campaign against drunk drivers. Flahive is involved with several student activities aimed at alcohol awareness.

On the wall is a large, framed letter from former Gov. Michael Dukakis, thanking the school for its help on a Valentine's Day project, with which Flahive was involved.

Beside his desk is a picture of the front of Westwood High School after the Blizzard of 1978. The photograph was taken by a former student, and Flahive noted that he still keeps in touch with the student.

Being chosen for such a title helps Westwood High School receive some recognition too.

"A lot of the good programs the school has get known this way," Flaherty said.

Flahive credits the students — not himself — with much of the school's successes that have led to the honor he received.

"We just have great kids here. They come up with some great ideas."

While Flahive may not take full credit for being recognized as vice-principal of the year, others quickly praise the Westwood administrator.

Assistant Principal Of The Year

CHARLES W. FLAHIVE, assistant principal at Westwood High School, was recognized as Massachusetts' Assistant Principal of the Year during the "Leadership Forum for the 21st Century," sponsored by McDonald's Corporation and the National Association of Secondary Principals (NASSP). Mr. Flahive was presented with a plaque at a national four-day forum. Congratulations, Mr. Flahive!

Educator receives award from Goldin Foundation

The Goldin Foundation for Excellence in Education has announced the recipients of its 1993 awards. Wayne Chatterton, an English teacher at Westwood High School, is among the educators recognized for outstanding contribution in the classroom, school and community.

One of six award winners, Chatterton demonstrates a commitment to excellence in education while providing a learning environment which takes into account individual student needs. Peer nominators for the award reflected, "Much of the strength of Wayne's candidacy comes from his consistent everyday excellence. His approach to his courses is fresh. He works within the parameters of the curriculum provided, but always with the question of how he can make the courses more interesting, exciting and relevant."

Students, too, provided overwhelming positive responses to his teaching: "He relates to students. We feel that we are accomplishing something together. He asks us to answer one question, and somehow the class takes over...He teaches us to work together — to figure things out and to solve things together...We start talking about one topic but everything seems connected, even our first journal entry at the beginning of the year is connected to everything we've done."
